

The City of Greenup consists of many newly constructed homes in the outer reaches of the system while the downtown area is far older. Many of the lines outside of the city limits, constituting the bulk of the system, have been constructed in the last 20 years.

This funding will allow the city to rule out service lines and newer homes and begin working inward to the problem areas closer to town.

As it stands, the city has not defined specific plans as to how these issues will be addressed and what tools will be used.
